

Victim of Accidental Shooting is Paralyzed

A Mokena man is in Silver Cross hospital in critical condition and as a result of an accidental shooting at his home Monday night.

The victim, Louis C. Maly, 33 years old, a TV serviceman who works in Joliet, has undergone surgery twice since his arrival at the hospital but the bullet has not been removed, it was said. The bullet struck him in the right chest, according to the report of Deputy Sheriff John Shelley and Lee Edwards, and passed thru, lodging in the spine and causing a paralysis of both legs.

Maly, his wife, Joan, 37, and their two children reside at 194th st. and 116th ave., in Sunny Acres, a subdivision of the northwest fringe of Mokena. Recently a prowler had been reported in the area and Monday night Maly was giving his wife instructions on firing a pistol.

The weapon was a 32 automatic. Maly had removed the magazine but overlooked a cartridge that was in the firing chamber. He put the gun under a mattress, Maly later told the deputies, and told his wife that he would go out of the room and pretend he was a prowler and that she was to get the pistol from his hiding place and go thru the motions of shooting as he had been teaching her.

Maly went out and a few seconds later came to the bedroom door, the report said. Mrs. Maly, following his directions got the pistol out from under the mattress, leveled it and pressed the trigger. The gun, which the Mals believed to be empty, was discharged and the husband fell, critically wounded.

Mrs. Maly became hysterical and after help had arrived she was at a point of collapse and is still suffering from shock.

He and his wife celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary this summer.

Lincoln-Way Group To Present Three One-Act Plays

The Footlighters Dramatic club of Lincoln-Way high school will present their production of three one-act plays, Friday and Saturday evenings, Nov. 4 and 5 at 8 p.m. in the school gymnasium.

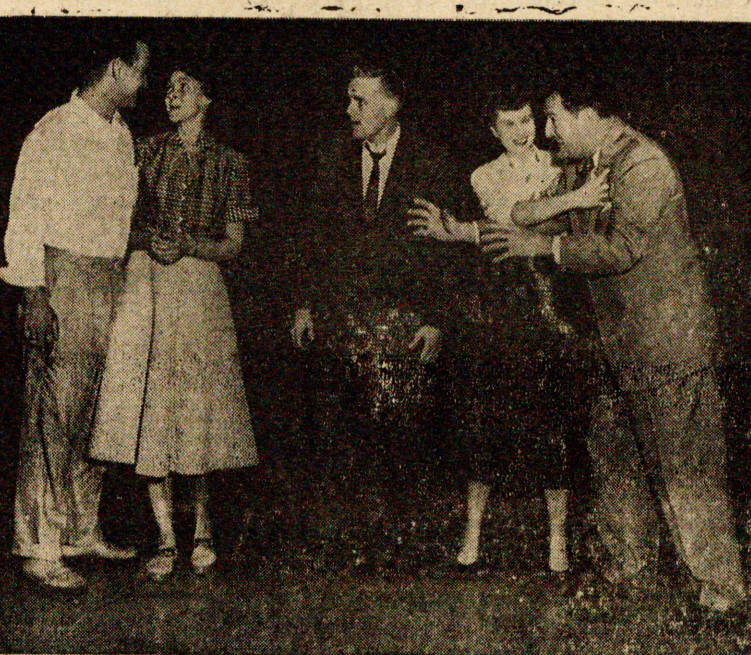

Rehearsals have been started on the plays. They are: "The Man in the Bowler Hat," which concerns a mystery adventure that comes suddenly to two very ordinary people in the middle of a very ordinary mid-week evening; "The Great Western Melodrama," the well-sung story of a two gun villain versus a melody loving duet with the lovely damsel caught somewhere in between; and "Rising in the Groom," the saga of a young man with adventure in his blood who continually stirs up his common place family with his many carefree antics.

All in all the program suggests a night of good entertainment for young and old. It is hoped by the Footlighters that this years production will be attended by an even greater audience than that of last year. Tickets will go on sale soon by members of the club. No seats are reserved.

Consider season price trends when deciding how much to feed hogs.

Be sure your ladder is solid before you climb it.

New Lenox Drama Group Rehearses Play

The English IV classes of Richard Keeley at Lincoln-Way high school are now on an extended tour of the Orient, via film and story.

The current film "Love Is a Many Splendored Thing," a well as the story, Memories of Peking, have helped to understand China thruout one of its most colorful writer personalities, Dr. Han Suyin.

The story, "Memories of Peking" would be of interest to those who have seen the Jennifer Jones, William Holden movie since it leads up to, in part, the film drama. It is the prologue dealing with growing up experiences of Han Suyin who became one of China's first woman doctors.

"Love is a Many Splendored Thing," details her love for an American war correspondent, Mark Elliott (played by William Holden). Their love affair is hampered, of course, because of the differences in racial heritage, customs, etc. and boils up to a dramatic conclusion. All the color and movement of Hong Kong 1955, is quite beautifully portrayed.

In the course of the year the English IV classes will study Latin America, Scandinavia and Europe as well as Modern American writing. Many films have been chosen to add insight into and develop interest in these peoples and their lives.

Suppers, Sales To Be Listed Now Under Social Whirl

Because of the increasing number of organization and raising dinners, luncheon and sales, beginning with this issue, this news paper will publish a calendar of events each week on Page 3, under Social Whirl, outlining these affairs as a public service feature.

This move has become necessary in order to conserve space and we believe will prove more satisfactory as a means of acquainting the public with all of the essential information covering such events.

Corn Harvest Without Accident Is Goal of FFA

A corn harvest without accidents is the goal of members of the Lincoln-Way Future Farmers of America chapter this year. Roy Van Rheden, vocational agriculture instructor, says the boys are armed with facts about picker accidents that can help farmers in this area to do a safer, better job of picking corn. Included in this "ammunition" are films on safe picker operation, a booklet entitled "Corn Picker Operation to Save Corn and Hands," and tips for safe picker operation.

According to plans, the FFA will visit farmers in the local area, pointing out hazards and asking for a pledge of safe operation. Farmers who agree that they will try to prevent a picker accident will have special stickers placed on their pickers.

"Altho corn picker accidents have decreased each year since 1951, we still have a long way to go," says Russell Hamilton, president of the FFA chapter. "We hope farmers will use the information we have to make 1955's harvest the safest yet."

There are but two pinball machines in operation in New Lenox, it was said.

Park Board Files Budget For 1955-56

The Mokena Community park board has submitted its budget for the 1955-56 season to the Civic association for approval and the figures will be published later in the News-Bulletin.

Plans for the coming year include the clearing of more picnic areas, and the purchase of additional picnic tables, thus providing more accommodations for outings and cookouts.

Warren B. Manker submitted plans for a major improvement in the form of a 20 by 40 foot shelter with a double fireplace in the center.

Since this project will be costly, a building fund has been set up in the new budget, to which any group or individual is welcome to contribute. Checks or money for the building fund should be turned in to Henry Clark, treasurer.

At the last meeting of the park board a financial report was submitted as follows:

The report does not include the park board's share of the Homecoming receipts and the balance on hand as of Oct. 1 will be reduced considerably when bills are received for projects now in progress.

The Mokena Lions club is interested in a plan to flood a section of the park this winter to provide ice skating. Year round use of the park is the aim of the board.

Add to Autumn's Colors - the Pink of a Wild Rose

Mrs. Herbert Moss of Tinley Park noticed a little spot of pink along the roadside at 171st and Harlem, while out driving Friday, Oct. 6. Closer investigation disclosed a beautiful wild rose, fully blown, with a half-closed bud.

It has been said, that if one is not satisfied with the weather around Chicago, just wait an hour or two, and it will change. Mrs. Charles McCutchen had violets blooming in her garden the week of Sept. 26th. Evidently the flowers can't make up their minds about the weather.

Move to Form Sanitary District At New Lenox

A movement backed by the village board has been launched in New Lenox to meet its sanitation needs.

New Lenox, like scores of other communities in Illinois, has found that septic tanks will not serve as a sewer system in a growing area.

New Lenox does not have a sewer system. It also lacks a village water system.

The state sanitary water board, now striving to enforce sanitation laws is cracking down on communities that are without public water and sewer systems.

And one of the big problems in connection with a public sewer system is the disposal of the lateral sewers—the sewers that serve homes, business houses and industry.

Some villages have met this problem by building their own sewage disposal plants or forming or joining an established sanitary district.

A Separate Body In New Lenox, a move to establish a sanitary district has been started and has the backing of the village board. It should be explained, however, that should a sanitary district be created in New Lenox it would be a separate division of government with its own officials, trustees that would be appointed by the county court.

A petition for the formation of such a district has been filed in the office of County Clerk Joseph Hartley in Joliet and County Judge John Cowing has set Oct. 28 as the date on which the petition will be heard by a commission comprised of himself and two circuit judges.

William Penn, attorney for the village of New Lenox is also appearing as counsel for the petitioners for the sanitary district. Any objections if any, as to the boundaries of the proposed district—an outline of which appears on this page—will be heard by the commission sitting in the county court.

The commission will establish the boundaries of the proposed district and then Judge Cowing will set a date for an election at which the residents of the proposed district will have an opportunity to vote on the question.

Need Public Water Supply A sanitary district is empowered to build and operate a sewage disposal plant and a trunkline sewer serving as an interceptor to bring the sewage to the disposal plant. The property owners are required to build the lateral sewers. The same thing would be true if the village built and operated the disposal plant.

The village board, of course, is interested in disposing of sewage, which has been a vexing problem in New Lenox for many years. It also is vitally interested in building a public water system.

Mayor Lloyd Berlin said that the board was now considering ways and means to promote such an improvement. The wells, and mains would be built from public funds raised thru bonds—general and revenue.

Would Hire Expert

Estimates of the cost of both projects will be announced when they are completed. Mayor Berlin has recommended that a financial consultant be retained to guide the village in the financing of a water program.

By doing this, the mayor said, he was certain the village and the taxpayers would save money.

"If one wants to build a house he hires persons trained in the building trades—if he is ill he goes to a physician—if he requires legal work done he goes to a lawyer," the mayor pointed out. "And it is my belief that with the financing of a project of the size and scope of a public water system the village board and the taxpayers will save money and time by retaining a financial expert. I am satisfied that what he would save would more than offset his fee."

15-year-old Albert Wilder, Jr., of Mokena, who disappeared from his home on Wolf road Tuesday, was found at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in Joliet. He was spotted by two Public Service meter readers, Carl R. Widlowski, and Irvin Matthew, both of Joliet. They were driving in the 200 block on East Jackson st. in Joliet when they saw the youngster looking in at a store window. He answered the description of the missing boy that had been given them earlier by a gasoline station attendant in New Lenox. They stopped and asked the boy his name. He told them and the two men immediately put him in their car and took Albert to the county jail and turned him over to Sheriff Roy Doerfler.

The boy said he had no reason for leaving home other than that he just wanted to take a walk. Asked where he spent Tuesday night he said it was in someone's home but he didn't remember whose home it was.

A wide spread search for a missing 15-year-old boy was launched in the Mokena area Tuesday night.

Albert Wilder, Jr., disappeared from his home premises sometime between noon and 2 p.m., on Monday according to his mother.

The parents, both of whom are employed nights at the Clearing Machinery corp., Chicago, sleep a portion of the day. Mrs. Wilder said she laid down about noon and woke up around 2 o'clock. She called her husband, made some coffee and then called for Albert, Jr.

The lad has been working in the barn, transferring corn from one bin to another. He did not answer nor was he in his room. A trip to the barn was fruitless. The shovel Albert had been using was resting on the floor, loaded with corn, as if he had been called away or interrupted just as he was about to lift it.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilder made a tour of the premises—a 5-acre tract on Wolf road just south of 189th st.—and when they failed to find Albert, got out their car and began cruising the entire area. Around 4 o'clock they enlisted the aid of neighbors and police were called.

State police, Mokena, Frankfort and New Lenox police were notified Tuesday night. The sheriff's office was not informed until Wednesday morning.

Scores of neighbors, police and students from Lincoln-Way high school searched fields and outbuildings Tuesday night and continued the hunt yesterday. Many of the searchers were out all night.

Mrs. Wilder said that Albert was happy here and was of a cheerful disposition. He was very obedient, the mother stated, and never even went next door to play unless he had permission. Mrs. Wilder said the boy had never gone away before. He is suffering from brain damage, experienced when a young child, and as a result, the mother said, his mental processes are somewhat impaired.

Yesterday afternoon men were dragging the deep pools in a drainage ditch several hundred yards south of the Wilder home. Sheriff Roy Doerfler brought grappling hooks and a boat to the scene but even before the boat arrived there were volunteer searchers who were wading the water where they could and probing the bottom with feet and poles. The dragging operation failed to yield results.

The search turned to another ditch after a copy of the "Weekly Reader," a lesson sheet, used in the Mokena public school, was found lying alongside the ditch. A brother of Albert, Gene, 9 years old, had given him a copy of this paper and the one found by the ditch was believed to be that copy.

Authorities also were checking footprints that lead thru a bean field to a side road to the east and south. There are two sets of prints, one set that looks as if made by a large man and the other that appears to have been made by a boy.

The missing youth is about 5 feet 2 inches tall and weighs around 110 pounds. He was wearing a T-shirt and a pair of blue jeans. He did not have a jacket, nor did he have any money.

Besides Albert and Gene, there are five sisters, Linda Ann, 6; Juanita, 11; Virginia, 13; Priscilla, 14; and the oldest who is married, Patricia, Mrs. Williams.

Mrs. Williams stays with the children at night while the parents are at work.

None of Illinois' best varieties of wheat will be discounted in the 1956 wheat price support program.

Girl Scouts To Restore Home Of Founder

Twenty-two members of Tinley Park Girl Scout Neighborhood met at the Tinley Park school, where the Juliette Lowe World Friendship fund as well as the Juliette Lowe mansion in Georgia took up much of the discussion period. The recommendation was made that to cover cost of restoration and maintenance of this national shrine, each registered adult in scouting contribute $1. The troop leaders to be responsible for collecting from registered adults of the troop, with the date of Oct. 25 for the deadline on collections.

Neighborhood chairman, Mrs. P. L. Jochum relayed request made by council office that, all adults registering must use their husband's first name or two initials. Also, the first of the month is the final date of registration. Any received later, will automatically lose one month's credit, membership - wise. Leaders were asked to be most careful with regard to this request. The post-card fund was augmented by contributions from the leaders. This will then permit each leader to receive a notice of the monthly meetings, with the request that she inform all adults on the troop.

Mrs. Irwin Funk, chairman of the nominating committee, informed the group the slate was completed. Neighborhood chairman, Mrs. Elmer Knudsen, Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Ray Anderson. Both offices carry a term of two years.

The 51 boys now in Cub Scout Pack No. 272 in Tinley Park are enjoying an active program. The group was established only last April and since then has organized its dens, carried out a summer baseball program; a family picnic; a successful paper drive and won the second award in the parade at the Fall Festival for the best junior marching unit. Things have not slowed down this fall either. At the first pack meeting, awards were given to boys who had earned advanced ratings and new boys were welcomed into the group. A basketball group was announced which will practice weekly in the Tinley Park school gym. The October meeting will be a Halloween party for all pack members.

The eight den mothers are to learn new methods for helping the boys by attending a series of four sessions of a Den Mother's Training Course conducted by the National Boy Scout organization at the Purdue Extension in Hammond.

SCHOOL NEWS

LINCOLN-WAY HIGH

Mrs. Florence Butler's family living group, a section of senior common learnings had Father Dennis Hall, the pastor of St. Jude's Catholic church in New Lenox as a speaker. He talked about the Catholic idea of marriage and how serious a step it is in one's life; that problems should be solved within the family and not taken to the divorce court.

Before the family living section of senior common learnings is over we plan to have a Methodist minister and a lawyer come in to talk to us. We also plan to visit family court in Chicago.

And early this month Dr. Claude Otto visited the senior common learnings class; he was invited to speak on the subject of preparing for marriage.

Dr. Otto's main theme was the idea that facing life demands a serious and mature mental attitude. Without the ability to conquer unexpected situations and prepare for planned improvements, such as marriage, a person could not possibly hope to achieve success or happiness in any phase of modern life.

FRANKFORT CLUB

The Frankfort Woman's club will meet in the home of Mrs. Claude Otto Thursday evening, Oct. 20 at 8 p. m. A chef living in Glenwood will speak on preparing of food. Guest night which was to have been observed at this meeting has been postponed to the January meeting.

P.T.A. SMORGASBORD
A smorgasbord will be held in the Carl Sandburg high school, 133rd and LaGrange road Saturday, Oct. 22, from 5 to 7:30 p.m., under PTA sponsorship.

Highly successful last year, it is geared to provide good service and excellent food at nominal cost. The menu will include dishes every self-respecting Swedish smorgasbord should have, as well as many others, assuring "the most" in taste thrill and appetite appeal for everyone, according to those in charge.

This is the only fund-raising event of the year for the Carl Sandburg high school PTA, which is a member of the Southwest area council and district 19. Thru a similar effort last year, funds were made available to provide a three hundred dollar college scholarship for a Sandburg senior, one hundred dollars for school band uniforms and a gift of a world globe and display panel for the school library.

Tickets for the smorgasbord are available now. Arrangements for them may be made by calling Mrs. G. E. Hoglund, budget and finance chairman, at Palos Park 611-J.

The entire community is invited. It offers an opportunity for dad to take the family out to dinner at small cost to himself for his grand gesture, and provides extra funds for school projects, thru PTA activities. Service will be continuous from 5 o'clock thru 7:30 p.m.

Tinley WSCS Holds General Meeting
The WSCS of Tinley Park Methodist church held their general meeting Wednesday, Oct. 5, with Mrs. Harold Zolbac presiding. A pot luck luncheon was enjoyed, the tables were decorated with Indian designs and colors including individual puzzle placemats and moccasins.

Mrs. Hal Kent led devotions. Mrs. Herbert Bettenhausen was a guest. Mrs. Annie Stover was reported ill.

The Ruth circle is selling Christmas toys, of which a catalogue is available in the church study. The circle met Oct. 11 at the home of Mrs. Robert Rich, with Mrs. Erwin Ernst as co-hostess.

Miriam circle met Tuesday evening, Oct. 11 in the home of Mrs. Richard Nebel. Their project is the sale of occasional and Christmas cards and wrappings, with Mrs. Richard Nebel as chairman.

Martha circle met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Russell Bettenhausen.

Dorcas circle met yesterday, Oct. 12 at a pot luck luncheon. Hostesses were the Mesdames Martin Matuszewicz, Alvin Rader and Harold Zolbac.

Esther circle is meeting this evening, Oct. 13 at 8 o'clock.

Martha Circle presented a delightful program Oct. 5, an imitation of the television show, "This is Your Life" with the life story told of Chief Good Leader.

At the general meeting plans were discussed for the turkey dinner. It was decided that all future dinners would be a project of all the circles and that adult tickets would be limited to 500. The Mesdames Arthur Brandau, Ernest Yepsen and Harry Schmidt will have charge of the turkey dinner.

Tied For Title in Wilco Small Fry League

It is getting a little late for baseball but that is a sport discussed and debated the year 'round. The teams that lost title races in the season past are making plans for winning them the next season while the winners are equally busy with plans to hold what they have. In the top picture here (by Leland) are members of the Tinley Park Small Fry team that won the Wilco League championship this year. At the son's close Tinley was tied with Mokena — pictured below — and in the play-off went on to win the title.

Faith Demands Sacrifice by Possessors

BY REV. EDMOND BENARD
Catholic University of America

(Paulist Feature Service)
Most men will admit that two and two are four. It costs them nothing to admit it. But many men refuse to see Christ as the Way, the Truth, and the Life.

To believe in Christ means to follow His teachings, and His teachings frequently interfere with what a man considers pleasure and comfort. To follow Christ often means to change a pagan way of life. Some men would deny that two and two are four rather than change their lives. Is it any wonder that they refuse to affirm that Christ is God—for a Divine Christ is One Whose command must be obeyed?

The mind is like water; it seeks its own level. Therefore a right conscience and a sound moral life are the first necessity in the search for faith. If a man does not want to believe, he can always find excuses for not believing. But if he wants to believe, he must be prepared not only to know truth but to follow it.

Faith is more than just a searching. It is not a blind surge of emotion nor wishful thinking, nor is it a good feeling deep down inside. Faith is a clear and free assent of our mind to God's revealed truth.

Not Easy Way

Faith as the answer to our problems is not easy. It is not a matter of just believing, but of believing just so long as we believe. But we never just believe. We believe something. And if faith is important, then it is just as important that we believe what God has revealed to be believed.

What is it then that we believe by faith? It is the message sent to men by God. The object of our faith is the doctrine brought to men by Christ Our Lord during His life on earth and the teachings that flow from it.

It is not easy to accept these teachings. It costs something to accept the faith. It costs the sacrifice of things that God forbids. Faith demands that we sacrifice the affections of those who would keep us from the truth.

Faith also requires love—love of truth. Love of another human being can be mistaken. But love of truth and love of God can never be mistaken, for truth never changes and is never fickle. As St. Paul tells us, "Faith is the substance of things to be hoped for, the evidence of things that are not seen."

Ancient Courthouse of Migrant County Seat Now Village Hall

The Thebes courthouse is a Southern Illinois landmark. Begun 110 years ago, it still sits serenely on the bluff overlooking the Mississippi river. It was built and first used as a county courthouse for Alexander county, but ceased to serve that purpose more than 90 years ago.

Since it was used as a courthouse, it has served many other purposes. It has been abandoned by spells, used as a church, for school purposes, by fraternal orders, as a point for political gatherings, and for other varied purposes. Strolling boys have always found it a favorite rendezvous. Not it is a city hall and houses the village library. Also it marks one of the numerous sites where the county seat paused on its journey from America to Cairo.

When Alexander county was established on March 4, 1819, five county commissioners were appointed to locate the "permanent seat of justice" and to establish the new county government. For the new seat of justice they selected the long vanished village of America that had been platted on the Ohio at the lower end of Hodges bayou in 1817. They also contracted for the erection of a brick courthouse and jail, the jail to be built first.

Up, Then Down
Their choice of America appeared to be a wise one. The town grew rapidly. One group of promoters built "24 double log cabins and many frame dwellings." Others came to build. The town soon had several hundred people and gave promise of importance. These promises, however, were not to be fulfilled. Business failures, a slight shifting of the river's channel, some destructive fires, a great pestilence and the death, removal or decreased interest of influential men combined to dim all hopes. After about a decade the village was practically deserted.

A feeling grew that the county seat should be removed to a better location. The county commissioners met on March 6, 1833, and took action. They chose a new site for the "permanent seat of justice." The facts are they appear to have chosen two or three sites. In one report, still extant and bearing their signatures, a site was vaguely designated about three miles east and two miles north of present Unity. The name of Vernon was chosen for the projected village. Vernon was to be somewhere in the "Southeast quarter and North end of Section 27."

Moved Again
Another report on another loose sheet of paper and bearing the signatures of the same commissioner, adds to the confusion. This second report would place the "permanent seat of justice" on a tract of land "located on the Southwest half of the Southeast Quarter and North end of Section 36."

This state of confusion was partially clarified on June 13, 1833, when David Hailman and his wife gave the county a deed to twenty acres of land to be used as a county seat. This tract of land was described by metes and bounds, beginning at "three white oaks the northwest corner of Section 6." This was definitely not either of the tracts described in the reports mentioned.

A county building that combined both a jail and a courthouse was shortly built on the tract that Hailman had given. It was built of logs, covered with clapboards and weatherboarded. In 1843 two prisoners contrived to have this building burn as part of their plan of escape. A plan immediately got under way to remove the county seat from Unity.

Cost $4200
On Feb. 4, 1845, the village of Thebes, earlier called Spar Hawk's Landing, was chosen as the new location. There must have been some idea that this was to be the permanent seat so often mentioned. A contract for stone courthouse and jail was made on Dec. 17, 1845. This agreement was with a man designated in the contract as Erndt Barkhausen, but who signed his name as Arnsed Baurkhausen. For the construction the contractor was to receive $4200 and was given the privilege of quarrying stone on the courthouse grounds. This agreement describes the building and gives general specifications for its construction. All work was to be done in a substantial manner.

All walls were to be two feet thick excepting those around the jail. These were to be three feet thick. The jail was to have "one heavily barred window 12 by 12 inches." This may still be seen. The door to the jail was to be made of oak planks two inches thick and lined with sheet iron "securely riveted." The iron is still on the door. The oaken floor three inches thick on floor joists three inches by ten inches has rotted away but the vaulted stone ceiling is intact.

Cairo Final Winner
With only minor changes the old courthouse stands today much as it was when built. The outside plaster or stucco had begun to crack and was removed about twenty years ago. Partitions and floors have been changed somewhat. The lower hallway is no longer "floored with bricks on edge." A key-stone above the rear doorway carried the date of 1848, evidently the year of the building's completion.

Though the Thebes courthouse itself has proved relatively permanent, the "permanent seat of justice" retained its itching foot. Petitions asking its removal were circulated and an election was held in 1859. Cairo mustered 570 votes against 390 for Thebes. The seat of justice was moved to Cairo, where it has remained. Careful listening uncovers no rumor of a contemplated move. Sightseers stopping in the village enjoy seeing "The Old Courthouse" at Thebes.

Car Designing Pays Dividends To U.S. Youths

Eight university scholarships worth $20,000 and another $70,000 in cash and U.S. Savings bonds are the stakes in the 1956 Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild model car competition, it was announced by James P. Wines, secretary of the Guild.

In addition to individual awards to successful young model car builders, the Guild awards permanent trophies to the schools attended by first state regional and national winners. Since 1930, the Fisher Body competition has awarded 140 university scholarships valued at $441,500 to national winners. More than $700,000 in cash and other awards have been made to thousands of boys winning state and regional honors.

No Limits
The 1956 competition offers the young car designers the opportunity to build sports cars, hardtops, convertibles or station wagons as well as two or four-door sedans.

The Fisher Body model car competition has become nationally famous as one of industry's most successful talent sources. A survey of former winners revealed that the same dreams that help a boy design and build an award-winning model car helped most of them to become prize-winning adults, too.

In addition to the many who become industrial and automotive designers, the survey found doctors, lawyers, bankers, architects, publishers, engineers and manufacturers.

Enrollments are being taken now for the competition by Guild field representatives who are visiting thousands of public and parochial schools throughout the country.

Any boy in the United States between the ages of 12 thru 19, is eligible to enter the competition and may obtain an enrollment card by writing to the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild, General Motors Corporation, Detroit 2, Mich.

Win Scholarship, Cash
A booklet on model car design and construction, the only textbook of its kind for youths wishing to learn about automobile design, is given to each boy enrolling in the Guild. It was prepared by professional designers from the General Motors Styling Section, Fisher Body Division engineers and the Technical Staff of the Craftsman's Guild.

The awards for the best models entered in the Guild competition again include eight university scholarships for the national winners of the Junior (12 through 15 years old) and Senior (16 through 19) Divisions of the competition. In each age group the awards will be: 1st, $4,000 scholarship; 2nd, $3,000; 3rd, $2,000; 4th, $1,000.

There will be 14 awards in each state and the District of Columbia, seven in each age group as follows: 1st, $150 cash; 2nd, $100; 3rd, $50; and four honorable mention awards of $25 U. S. Savings Bonds. For judging purposes, the 48 states and District of Columbia are grouped into 20 regions, each of which will send a Junior and Senior Division winner expense-free to the national Guild convention next July.

Sons of General Motors employees (including dealers and their employees) are eligible to enter the competition. Duplicate awards are made if the son of a GM employee wins.

Ford Launches New Program To Help Schools

Ford division of Ford Motor Co. has announced a new two-point program including a 7-million-dollar Ford car loan project to help the nation's schools increase their driver training activities.

Aimed at supplementing the number of Ford cars already available for driver training, the new plan resulted from suggestions made by traffic safety specialists who attended Ford's national safety forum in Dearborn last month. The program was announced at the convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police where Ford made a special report on what took place at the forum. It is effective immediately.

The program includes:
1. An incentive plan to make it financially easier for the nation's 6,700 Ford dealers to annually lend 7 million dollars worth of safety-equipped Fords to authorities of accredited schools sponsoring driver training courses. The incentive includes a discount on each unit lent by the dealer. Ford Division said each car will be equipped with the new five pioneer safety features which embody Ford's new concept of packaging the passenger as a means of reducing injuries in the event of an accident.

2. A kit of educational materials consisting of motion picture film and booklets containing reports on the National Safety Forum, and the latest available research data on what happens to people involved in automobile accidents. The kit also is available to law enforcement agencies who request it. Ford Division and its dealers plan to place more than 3,500 cars at the disposal of school authorities this year and to increase this number in the years ahead, the police chiefs were told.

Average wheat yield on 20 University of Illinois soil experiment fields was about 25 bushels without soil treatment and 46 with treatment and crop rotation.

Wheat Growers To Pay Fee For Second Acreage Inspection

Wheat growers should be aware of a change in policy with regard to farm inspections under the 1956 wheat allotment and marketing quota program, Roy Smith, chairman of the Will County ASC Committee, said today.

Beginning with the 1956 program, a fee will be charged for second inspections where required to determine final acreages. This new rule will have greatest application to cases where farmers decide to reduce their original plantings by utilizing a portion of the acreage as hay, pasture, silage, or green manure, before it matures.

This utilization normally takes place after the first inspection is made, explained Mr. Smith. Therefore, a further trip to the farm is required, if the producer wants to receive credit for the acreage so reduced. It is for this second inspection that a charge will be made, beginning with the 1956 crop.

This policy now places the wheat grower on the same basis with corn, cotton, or other allotment crop farmer, inasmuch as these producers have previously been paying a charge for re-inspections. An exception to the charge is made when a major error is found in the original determination.

All wheat growers should keep this change in mind at the time of wheat seeding.

It's Really the Bee That Gets Stung!

Pity the poor honeybee! Not only does he labor hard and long producing honey and beeswax he never gets to use, but he does so not knowing that farmers would be glad to keep him if he never laid up a nickel's worth!

According to the Illinois Business Review, published by the University of Illinois college of commerce and business administration, production of honey and beeswax is of secondary economic importance to the fact that the bee is responsible for 80 to 85 per cent of all crop pollination by insects. His help is important to keep fruit growers and farmers in business.

Still, the honey Illinois bees produce is worth more than a million dollars a year, the "Review" finds.

Three-Fourths Of Illini Earn Way Thru University

Including summer jobs, at least three-fourths of the students attending the University of Illinois earn part to all of their college expenses, says Dean Gerald W. Peck, who has directed student employment here for 18 years.

"More than half the students have some sort of job during the school year," he says. New placements run about 5,500 a year, but many of the 18,000 students on this campus having once been placed return to the same job year after year.

Some 2,000 men have meal jobs, working as waiters, dish-washers, or other helpers during meal hours and getting their own meals in return. This saves one of the largest items of student expense.

Coeds find their most common employment in offices, food services, or library. Some 1,500 students work for the University itself. Students with special abilities or training find a waiting market for their skills, says Dean Peck.

Maue school children enjoyed a tour of Brookfield zoo, Thursday, leaving the school by bus at 9 a.m. and were back by 3 p.m. They were accompanied by their teachers, Mrs. Clara Mienert and Miss Mary Shoemaker, and five mothers, Mrs. John Cruise, Mrs. Roy Walker, Mrs. Raymond Knieriem, Mrs. Norman Strassenberg and Mrs. Harwood Stellwagen.

Maue's upper grade students were guests at a party Friday afternoon in the school honoring Frances Molitor and Carla Mrosek and their birthdays. Cake, ice cream and pop were served. For Frances it was a golden birthday celebration because she was thirteen years old on Oct. 13. Oct. 1 was Carla's thirteenth birthday.

Driver Who Ignores Highway Striping Picked as Boob-of-Month

The September "Boob of the Month" cited in Cook County Highways, monthly publication of the highway department, is "the Nonchalant Ninny who hasn't caught on to why lines are painted on pavements."

"The closest he has come is that maybe it's a test of skill to straddle the tripe."

"On two-lane roads he takes his half out of the middle."

"On multiple-lane highways he causes ulcers."

"It may be news to the Boob that striping is no mere whim."

"The fact is that striping as a means of safely guiding motorists in lanes, separating opposing traffic, marking danger zones and indicating turn movements is regarded as so important by highway authorities that the painting job runs to large figures."

"The Cook county highway department uses 10,000 to 12,000 gallons of paint a year keeping the stripes fresh on the 417 miles of concrete and black top roads the county maintains. The state of Illinois uses 35,000 gallons in Cook county the city of Chicago, and the Chicago Park district, 15,000 gallons each."

"To add a reflecting quality to the stripes, the painting crew use approximately 270,000 pound of beads, probably enough to have purchased Cook county from the Indians."

this was the ninth annual session she has attended.

STATE CAPITOL REPORT

by Representative John M. King
"Too much kids."

That is the ungrammatical and brief summary made by a federal observer at the Illinois Pre-White House conference held in Springfield recently. Delegates from all over the state could laugh at his intentional breach of grammar but they had to agree with his statement.

The state meeting on education was held to discuss several vital school problems that included the shortage of good teachers, overcrowded schools and pressing money troubles. But the basic cause for all these problems remains that our public school enrollment is growing by leaps and bounds.

This is not just an Illinois problem. The nation wide "baby boom" that started following World War II is now sending an expected large number of students into schools in all of the forty-eight states. In Illinois, our public school enrollment has increased by a quarter of a million during the last five years.

Educators estimate that this school population, now totalling a million and a half, will continue to increase at the rate of fifty thousand a year for some time to come.

Now this overcrowding is causing many problems and most of them could be solved if enough money was available. But state laws limit local tax rates for school purposes and put a limit on school districts' bond issuing power. Many districts now needing more revenue have reached these taxing and bonding limits.

Today local taxes pay for about four fifths of state education expenses. Ten years ago ninety percent of these expenses were borne locally. During this time state aid has increased correspondingly since federal aid for education is negligible in Illinois.

Delegates to the Illinois conference were agreed on one thing. They wanted to keep control of their schools in their own back yards. Few of them favored federal aid with its resulting federal controls.

But they wanted to keep on supplying all the services now offered in our schools and even increase the scope of these activities. Suggestions were made to increase adult education programs to create a public junior college system and to add new types of courses to the elementary school requirements.

With the ordinary costs of schools mounting and enrollment lists swelling these added services, if offered, will increase our educational money headaches. More funds will have to come from somewhere.

During the last session, the General Assembly increased the state equalization appropriation from $173 per pupil in average daily attendance to $200. This meant a one half per cent increase in the state sales tax. More state aid for schools next session will mean another tax hike.

More sources of local revenue must be found on the adoption or rejection of the proposed revision of the revenue article of our constitution next election.

The kind of schools we will furnish our children in the future will be up to the people. If they are willing to raise their taxes for education on the local and state level their elected officials will find a way to make more money available.

It is a sobering thought, however, to realize that today about one half of all City and County taxes and one-fifth of all state taxes are used for education.

Editor's note: In Will county approximately 70 percent of all local taxes collected goes to the schools.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Are you looking for a fool-proof recipe for vacation fun—one that's been properly tested and seasoned to taste? Here are two basic ingredients for any happy vacation by car.

First is the proper attitude towards your vacation fun—once that's settled, you're ready to go. Make up your mind in advance to leave your troubles at home, broaden your outlook and have a good, relaxing time. The second ingredient is the dash of spice—a change of scene. Get away from it all this summer. Go someplace new and different instead of heading for that one and only spot you've visited for the past six years.

Once you've decided on your basic ingredients, you'll want to add some other components to season your vacation dish. Your trip will be much more carefree if you're sure your car is in tip-top condition. Shell Oil's automotive experts advise you to have your car properly serviced before you start. Pack lightly. Take half as many clothes as you think you'll need. Then you'll have twice as much space for travel mementos picked up en route. Take at least one pair of well-broken-in walking shoes to insure your comfort.

For your digestion's sake, eat lightly and as regularly as you would at home. You might try my own eating-on-the-road formula—a light breakfast and a picnic lunch followed by a large meal after you've stopped for the night. I've found this formula to be a real budget-booster on any car trip.

As for sightseeing, intersperse it with rest and relaxation. Six hours of continuous sightseeing is enough for anyone but a youth. Besides, if you try to see too much too fast, you'll muddle your vacation memories.

If you wear glasses, you may want to take your lens prescription along in case of loss or breakage.

If you follow this travel-tested recipe, you'll end up with a tasty vacation you can savor for many years to come.

Can Enlist Now In Marines For 3-Year Hitch

For the first time in over 15 months, an unlimited number of young men may not enlist in the U. S. Marine Corps for a three year period.

Major T. S. Parker, officer in charge of the Chicago Marine recruiting office, announced that heretofore, only a small percentage of the total monthly quota were accepted for three year enlistments. All other enlistments were for four years.

Young men 17 years of age and older who enlist for this shorter period will be offered the same opportunities as those enlisting for four years.

All Marines are given the opportunity to qualify for a service school of their choosing.

Applicants interested may apply at the Marine Corps recruiting office, Postoffice building, Harvey. Applicants that are accepted are sent to Chicago for mental and physical examinations prior to being sworn into the Marines. Recruits from this area are sent to the Marine Corps recruit depot, San Diego, Calif., for ten weeks of "boot" training.

The new Marines receive a ten day leave after boot camp, or immediately following four weeks of advanced training at Camp Pendleton, Calif.
